Public input leads to arrest in bank heist

by Carol Moffatt

The lone suspect in the Haliburton Bank of Montreal robbery is in police custody, thanks to what police are calling an "excellent job" from the public.

Minden OPP Detective Constable Al Bibby said the suspect, Roger Oake, was arrested in Niagara Falls, New York on an unrelated charge only a few days after the May 10 mid-morning heist in Haliburton.

Oake, 40, of Uxbridge, will be brought back to Canada within the next few days.

"We had a warrant (for his arrest) the day of the robbery because of the tremendous help we had from the public here. And a warrant makes other departments a lot more receptive to looking for a suspect," said Bibby.

When Oake was arrested in New York the records would have been checked automatically, and the warrant for Oake's arrest would have come up.

Bibby credited the Haliburton bank teller who was robbed for remaining calm, doing what she was told to do and for providing police with a remarkably detailed description.

Word of the suspect's description was "on the street before it was on air", said Bibby, and word of mouth resulted in their first call about the robber's identity around 2:30 p.m.

"The first call we had about him was from social services staff in Minden, where he'd been, who put a name to him", he said.

The suspect is said to have gone from Minden, where he is known by name, to the Haliburton Post Office, where he retains a post office box and is also known by name. It is confirmed Oake's mother, Theodora, 78, Cracking Up!

It was an egg-citing week in Mrs. Marks-O'Sullivan's grade one classroom at Archie Stouffer Elementary School. Kelly Lawr, Dexter Beetlestone and Amanda Bennett were cracking up, along with the shells, as three chicks emerged from their eggs last Wednesday and Thursday. Three weeks ago, the class received nine eggs from Jean Hughes and placed them in an incubator. By Wednesday morning, two had broken free of their shells. The third emerged Thursday, just one day past its due date.

Although the students learned much from this project, it failed to answer the age-old question: Which came first, the chicken or the egg?

Tax hikes range from nil to 12%

Three area municipalities recently finalized their budgets, providing the full spectrum of impact to taxpayers' pocketbooks.

The tax hikes range from a zero increase in the municipal share of the taxes in Lutterworth Township to a 12 per cent increase in Snowdon. Stanhope held the middle ground with a modest 3.6 per cent increase.

When combined with the education and county taxes, the increase will be 8.1 per cent in Lutterworth, 8.3 per cent in Stanhope and 9.5 per cent in Snowdon.

Although taxes are up by 12 per cent in Snowdon the budget provides for no new projects and includes cutbacks in hours at the landfill sites.

Township clerk Ernie Hills said the increase is largely due to increasing costs of services and reductions in provincial assistance.

The largest increase is in the roads department budget. Hills said this was Lutt.	Stan.	Snow.

Municipal	0%	3.65%	12%
County	13.4%	14%	13.6%
Education:			9.8%
Elementary	9%	8%
Secondary	12%	11.1%
Overall	8.1%	8.34%	9.5%

caused by a $6,500 reduction in transfer payments from the province. The cost of fire protection is up by 10 per cent and there is a seven per cent increase in the budget for landfill sites.

Hills said the township has to proceed with waste management studies on its two landfills to comply with Ministry of Environment regulations. With this in mind, council is attempting to limit the cost of operating the sites by reducing the open hours.

Currently, the sites are open full days on Saturdays, Sundays and Wednesdays. Under the new budget, the Wednesday hours will be cut. After the summer season, the weekend hours at the dumps will also be cut in half.

Snowdon Township will not be taking advantage of the infrastructure grants because it can't afford to pay its share of any projects. Since there are no significant reserve funds, council would have to further boost the taxes to take advantage of the grants.

Stanhope Township, on the other hand, is expanding its services at the landfill sites. The new budget includes the cost of establishing a recycling program. The budget also includes the purchase of a new tanker truck for the fire department.

Like Snowdon, Lutterworth Township will be going ahead with studies on its landfill sites. Council has also budgeted for hard surfacing of two roads and an expansion of the computer systems.

Both Lutterworth and Stanhope Townships will be taking advantage of the infrastructure grants.

Cruising speed on ...

The Information Highway

by Jerry Grozelle

Since October 25 of last year, local computer enthusiasts have had the opportunity to take a jaunt on the information highway.

Well, it may not be exactly an information highway just yet but the RADCOM Bulletin Board (BBS) is a step in the right direction.

By comparison to the likes of CompuServe and Internet, the RADCOM Bulletin Board might be considered more of a forest access road at the moment. But that is due to change, possibly within the next few months.

Dan Stewart, owner of RADCOM Computers, says he decided to start a bulletin board to see what kind of response there would be. He was encouraged by the reaction.

About 35 people are now registered users and the BBS has fielded about 2,500 calls since October.

Stewart describes the current bulletin board as a "plain vanilla" setup. The heart of the system is a 386 SX 33-Mhz CPU with 4Mb RAM, a 40Mb hard drive and a Phillips single spin CD-ROM.

The RADCOM BBS now has 1.2 gigabytes (or 1.2 billion bytes) of shareware programs available for downloading from CD-ROM, several of the most popular on-line games and an electronic mail box.

The electronic mail box is for members to leave messages for each other. These messages are coded and can't be read by anyone other than those to whom they are addressed.

"For the first month we only had three or four regular users," Stewart said. "I put a small ad in the paper and it really picked up."

Stewart says the board is "very active" now, with seven to eight hours use, on average, per day.

The use to which the system is being put has justified thoughts of expanding and upgrading. When the system is upgraded it will feature three computers networked together.

Stewart will have some help setting up and operating the new bulletin board system. David Dummitt and Ryan Stinson, two Haliburton High School students whom Stewart describes as computer whizzes, have agreed to help.

"There are a lot of people out there who would use a local BBS if there was a connection to Internet," Stewart said.

He is looking into that possibility and has plans to visit with a couple of sysops (system operators) in Durham region to get some advice.

A bulletin board system is a link between two computers via a modem. The connection is made through the telephone lines and information (computer files) can be received or sent from or to the host computer. There is no way someone can "break into" your computer while you are on-line with the BBS computer.

"It's very much a one-way street," Stewart explained. "The user can manipulate the BBS computer but the reverse connections are at 2,400 BPS.

Making that first call to a BBS can be an intimidating experience for some. But Stewart says it doesn't have to be.

"You can't do any damage to the system," he reassured. "Selecting items from the menu is much the same as selecting something from a restaurant menu. Almost every area has its own help feature and there is a prompt at the bottom of every screen telling you what you need to do next."

Usually all it takes is typing "?" and hitting 'enter' to get on-line help.

"Each screen is telling you something," Stewart said. "All the information you need is on the screen."

He admits that it can be disconcerting at times for a new user but he assures that "practice makes perfect."

Stewart's advice is to "log on, take a deep breath and forget that you are connected to someone else's computer."

"When in doubt, hit enter. If that doesn't work, hit escape."

There is a charge of $30 per year to register with the RADCOM BBS. But Stewart isn't into it to make money. All of the registration fees go back into equipment.

"A bulletin board is a labour of love," he says. "There's no money to be made at it, but it is a tremendous hobby."

First Call

To connect to the BBS you need a communications software program such as PROCOMM PLUS. The parameters must be the same between the calling computer and the host computer. For those familiar with computer communications, RADCOM uses the standard 8-N-1 parameters on a modem capable of a transfer rate of up to 14,400 BPS (bauds per second). Stewart says that the vast majority of his BBS

Winter's last hurrah?

Cold snap sends chills through impatient gardeners

Don't unpack your snowmobile suit yet.

Although it snowed last Thursday, weather forecasters are predicting warmer temperatures for this week.

But last Thursday was what some have called a 'freak storm.' At around 1:30 p.m., the cold rain turned to snow, chilling residents of Haliburton County and playing havoc with area gardens.

Phil Graham, our local weather watcher, said that when he got up in the morning, the temperature was only 4.5 degrees Celsius. As the day went on, he watched for a change in the weather. The lowest temperature that day was .7 degrees Celsius.

"I can't ever remember the weather being like this," said Graham. He looked up weather charts from 10 years ago for record snow and cold. "Eighty per cent of the time, since 1984, it was only cold on the third or fourth of May. It has never been so late in the month," he said.

The last time it snowed in May was in 1984 on the first and second. But even then it was only light flurries.

When the rain turned to snow, many people ran home to cover plants with plastic, but according to Pat Campbell, owner of Campbell's Garden Centre, this was a bad idea. Condensation forms under plastic and freezes right on the plant, she says. It is a better idea to cover them with hot caps. Even newspapers are better because they provide more insulation for a light frost.

Campbell heard from many customers who told her their gardens were damaged. One customer with an unheated greenhouse lost most of her plants to the frost, said Campbell. Another had 18-inch tall tomato plants that were covered, and they were frozen as well.

Campbell advises people not to plant their gardens so soon. In this area you shouldn't plant your tender annuals until after June 1. But hearty annuals, such as; snapdragons, petunias, alyssum, are safe to plant early.

Still the best thing to do is bring your plants inside during the night, and set them out during the day.

Campbell said the shop was very brisk on the May 24 weekend. Many seasonal residents have likely planted their gardens, and some are bound to be disappointed when they return to their cottage. However, Campbell says it's not certain that all will be lost, because the warming effects of the lakes may have been enough to keep their plants from freezing.

She said the blossoms on fruit trees may have been damaged, but it's hard to tell if the fruit will set.

Plants were not the only ones affected by the storm. Graham says he knows of some humming birds that died after the storm. "It's been pretty hard on the humming birds. I wouldn't be surprised if a lot more were dying," said Graham.

Students from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, with a couple of younger helpers, held a free car wash on May 21 to increase awareness for OSAID (Ontario Students Against Impaired Driving). Handouts containing OSAID literature, and pamphlets from Health and Welfare Canada and the Community Alcohol Project were given out with every car wash. The HHSS students included Chad Radzio, Sarah Levis, Kim Harding, Bev Emmerson, Kyla Grexton and Katie Ackerblade. The younger helpers were Brendan Kraiker and Kyle Kraiker.

drove him to the Haliburton area and home again, but she did not have any knowledge of the robbery.

The same night, the post office clerk who had served Oake watched the news on TV and identified him from the description.

"The clerk called and said she'd seen the news, and that the description fit Roger Oake, who had been in the post office just after ten that morning," said Bibby.

The two identifications were sufficient grounds for a warrant, which was issued that same evening.

When calling around to other departments with warrant information, Minden police learned that Oake had been arrested in Toronto the previous day.

"Metro (police) had a photo of him so we went down to get it, arranged a computerized photo lineup and he was identified by the witnesses," said

Bibby, adding that the co-operation his department received from Metro Toronto Police and Durham Regional Police, who cover Uxbridge, was terrific.

"We received all kinds of calls about the suspect and if it weren't for the public's help we wouldn't have identified him and we'd still be running around looking for him," said Bibby.

Police did have a false lead on Oake's case when a caller identified an area man as the suspect, but Bibby stresses that every call about a crime is important.

"We don't overlook anything. We need the public's help on things. If they don't call, I'm no good as a cop. They literally saved us days of work in this case" he said.

Oake is scheduled to appear in court in Niagara Falls later in June, but is expected to be in Lindsay court any day now to face the robbery charge.

50 years of service: Haliburton Rotarians celebrate their club's accomplishments

by Jerry Grozelle

More than 150 people gathered at the Wig-A-Mog Inn on May 24 to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Haliburton Rotary Club. David Christie, Rotary's District Governor was among the guests.

Christie extended his congratulations to the Haliburton club for surviving the past 50 years.

"You've done a lot of good things in the community and throughout the world," he said, pointing out that the Haliburton club has contributed more than $40,000 to Rotary Foundation over its history. "Rotary Foundation is something that was started a few years after the organization began in 1905," Christie said. "It is the reason that the United Nations considers Rotary to be the strongest existing force for work peace. Rotary is considered the most viable and strongest force toward world peace. In fact Rotary is operating and doing good things throughout the world in more places than the United Nations is -- we operate in more countries."

"About a month ago I was in Haiti and Rotary is alive and well in that troubled country. Some of the things your club has done to help world situations are very needed in those countries and I'm very proud of you for contributing the amount of money that you did to the Haitian project. On behalf of the Haitian people, I thank you for that."

Christie presented a certificate to the club in honour of its golden anniversary.

A number of awards were presented. Rea Stinson, a charter member, was honoured with a plaque to commemorate his 50th year of membership in the club. He was the second president of the club in 1945-46.

Curry Bishop, Brian Black and John Beachli were presented with Paul Harris Fellowship Awards. The same honour was given posthumously to the late Betty Morrow, who died as a result of a car accident in 1991. Her award was accepted by her husband Bob Morrow.

The guest speaker for the evening was John Spragge, who may be best known as a rock and roll DJ with 1050 CHUM radio station of Toronto in the 1960s. Spragge spent the next 15 years as program director of CFRB, Canada's largest private radio station. In 1983 he addressed 12,000 Rotarians attending the international convention at Maple Leaf Gardens and the next year he travelled to Bombay, India to address the Rotary District Conference there. In '85 he started five years of self-employment as a professional public speaker, travelling back and forth across Canada speaking at conferences and conventions. In 1988 John was invited to open the World Economic Summit held in Toronto.

He has addressed the Haliburton Club on at least two other occasions.

"I'm honoured to be here to help blow a horn on behalf of this, the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the Rotary Club of Haliburton."

His wit kept the audience in stitches throughout the speech. He related a series of historical anecdotes covering the years from 1944, when the club first met to the present.

"I'm not a member of any organized political party. I'm a member of the NDP," Spragge quipped.

Spragge pointed out that the impressive list of fund-raising activities has only been equalled and surpassed by the many worthwhile projects to which this money has been of assistance. "In your early years, you opened a Rotary clinic at the hospital, you supplied eye glasses for children, you transported young contestants to the music festival in Lindsay, you sponsored the Haliburton Citizen's Band, you purchased a new ambulance for the community, you purchased X-ray equipment for the hospital, you sponsored swimming and water safety classes, on top of which you sponsored scholarships and any number of other activities. I could go on and on... I'm telling you what you already know.

"Fifty years," he emphasized,

"of seemingly, at the time, small projects, which over 50 years have helped make Haliburton what it is today. My hardest congratulations to you and those who went before you. Your record is one to be proud of."

"What about the next 50 years of the Rotary Club of Haliburton?" Spragge questioned. You can't just stop now.

"If the Rotary Club of Haliburton is to survive, you're going to have to attract the new, young business people of the community," he said. "You're going to have to find the new Rotarians. If that includes women, so be it."

He said that the torch will have to be passed to the younger generation and that both generations will have to learn from each other.

Spragge gave a list of things for the Rotarians to consider for the future, including: forming an advisory group whose members include high school students and contemporary programs like adopting a whole school.

"The Rotary Club of Haliburton needs to become a place where duck hunters and bird watchers want to come," Spragge said. This club needs to undertake a project so large that every member,

I don't care who he, or she is, has to be involved.

You must never forget that the moment of greatest vulnerability for the Rotary Club of Haliburton is the moment you think, whew, that's 50 years, we've done it," Spragge cautioned. "You're finished if you think that's the end."

"Ladies and gentlemen, you will never make a million dollars out of being a Rotarian," Spragge said. "But your life will be enriched far beyond any measurement dollars can provide. Thank you for volunteering, not only today, but for the past 50 years. Happy anniversary."

"Our care continues even after the funeral."

A discussion on continuing funeral care.

"Often the toughest part of losing someone is discovering the reality of the situation. That may happen right away or several weeks after the funeral.

"That's why we are committed to helping people cope with their loss. Whether it's through personal or group interaction, we want you to know you are not alone and that we truly understand your pain.

"It's just another one of our continuing efforts to help families in need."

Guy Scott: Hometown Proud

At precisely nine o'clock in the morning, almost seven days a week, he strides with confidence into his grocery and hardware store, gives a hearty smile to his employees, sheds his jacket and readies himself for the endless phone calls, the soiled hands from constant lifting and carrying, the cash register ringing, and the enthusiastic customers. He is well prepared for yet another busy day.

Guy Scott, owner of the IGA store in Kinmount, takes on more activities in one year, than most take on in a lifetime. One would think a person who owns and manages a busy store would not have time for anything outside of his business. But for Scott, life begins after his long day at work.

Scott is heavily involved in the organization of the Kinmount Fair, the Lions, the Civic Action Committee and the Masons. He has also undertaken the task of writing two books, and still finds time to spend with his new family.

A native of Kinmount, Scott grew up with his father Bill, retired Progressive Conservative MP, mother, Betty, and his sister, Lori, not to mention the cousins, aunts and uncles, and, of course, grandparents. Scott now lives with his wife, Lori, his three step-children, Shane, Justin and Ali, and their new baby, Meg.

"Every day is like a family reunion here," says Scott, who is forever celebrating birthdays. "People say that in these little towns you're related to half of the people living there, I guess that's true. My wife is still trying to figure out the family tree."

When asked what it was like with dad working in politics Scott replies, "I can't remember a time when dad wasn't in politics. It was quite different, though. We got to go places and see a lot of things you wouldn't normally get to see. My sister was really

by

hooked on meeting the Queen. She and my mom just couldn't wait to meet her. It's little things like that most people don't get to experience," he said.

After high school, Scott enrolled in Carleton University's history program. Upon receiving his Bachelor of Arts, he went to teacher's college at Ottawa University. From there he taught as a substitute teacher in Victoria County for a few years. "I was in every classroom from girl's phys-ed to machine shop," said Scott.

But Scott only wanted to teach high school kids History and English. "There weren't many spots for (teachers) teaching English and History and I wouldn't have liked teaching anything else," he said.

After returning to Kinmount from school, Scott started working full time at the IGA. He then realized, after spending several years studying history, Kinmount needed to know about its own past.

"When I got home I suddenly got looking around and I thought, wait a minute there's nothing about Canadian history here and even local history. It is totally ignored. Children in Kinmount couldn't even tell you what a township is, they think a concession is something you find at the fair, or means—to give in," said Scott.

He decided to be the one to tell his hometown the history of Kinmount and began writing his now published book, The History of Kinmount—Community on the Fringe.

"I subtitled it 'Community on the Fringe,' because we really don't belong to one area. If we ever have to describe where we're from we say we're so many miles from this place or up the road from... and that's part of the story of Kinmount," said Scott.

His second book, The History of Agricultural Societies and Fairs in Ontario, was written in 1992, which was the bicentennial of the founding of the first agricultural society in Ontario.

"I had been President of the OAAS (Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies) the year before, so as one of my projects as immediate past president I wrote this book," said Scott.

Scott said writing his second book was a real eye opener, "There are millions of people in Ontario who really don't understand what an agricultural society is, where it came from, what the fair was originally about. It's not just the midway."

Scott has been a 'head honcho' on the Kinmount Fair committee for several years. He says his title keeps changing with different jobs, "I am the treasurer and the first vice-president for the Kinmount fair, but really you might call me the question-answerer, if people have any questions then I'm here to answer them."

"At this time of the year I'm getting about four or five calls a day. Soon it will be a hundred a day. It's a big, big, business this fair," he said.

But times have changed. "When I was a little kid you used to put (the fair) away about the end of September, and dust it off at the beginning of June, but now it's all year round," said Scott.

Although the fair and the store take up most of his time, Scott still makes room for the local Masonic Lodge, the local Lions club, Kinmount Civic Action Committee, baseball when he gets the chance, and gardening.

Currently, he and other members of his family are busy renovating their ancestral homestead farm on Crystal Lake Road, where his father has retired.

Bill "has always been a farmer, he just didn't have time to do it. And as my father always said, 'You never take up farming, you always go back to it.'"

People Who Make a Difference will be a regular feature in The Times throughout the summer. If you know of a special person who deserves recognition for contributions to the community, drop us a line or call 286-1288.

Manhunt continues near Wilberforce

Minden OPP, with the assistance of #8 District Emergency response team members, tactical response unit members, canine units, the OPP helicopter, and several volunteers, are continuing their search for Kurt Leslie Jennerich, 27, of no fixed address.

The search, centred out of the village of Wilberforce, began on May 13, and is covering a radius of approximately 15 miles.

Jennerich is believed to be responsible for several cottage break and enters, and is the subject of a Canada wide warrant for parole violations. He has a history of violence and should be considered armed and dangerous.

Jennerich is described as six feet tall, 190 pounds, with brown, collar length hair, and a goatee type beard.

Sergeant Steve Adam, from Minden OPP, said, "We've spent a lot of time and energy checking out possible sightings."

As of Friday, there were no new developments on the manhunt.

Kookies 4 Kids! Shirley McKnight, of CIBC, sells some goodies to Dorothy Bowea. The bake sale was put on by both CIBC and TD banks in Minden and others throughout the area to raise money for the Five Counties Children's Centre in Peterborough.

Council supports June 11 festival

The Timbersports Festival is fast approaching and Dale Merrill of the festival committee was at Minden council last week to finalize some of the preparations.

Merrill was told that the municipality had set aside in its budget a total of $2,000 for the project — $1,000 as a donation and another $1,000 towards preparations and set-up by the Roads Department.

Council approved the closing of Main Street between Newcastle and South Water streets from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, June 11 for the day's activities.

Although the preparations are well under way, Merrill said the committee still needs some major sponsors to make sure there are enough funds for the event.

The municipality will provide portable toilets, some snow fence and Roads Department staff is prepared to provide equipment and manpower and bleachers will be moved to Main Street for the spectators. The washrooms at the Fire Hall will also be opened for the day.

Village Donuts and Family Restaurant will be putting on a pancake breakfast and council agreed to provide a few picnic tables for the outdoor patrons.

Part of the municipal parking lot will be set aside for a large tent and the rest will be turned into a "vendor's alley" with booths for merchants to display their goods.

Council also passed a resolution declaring the week of June 4 to 11, Minden Logging Heritage Week.

The festival will include everything from chainsaw and buck saw cutting events to pole climbing and axe throwing competitions.

The day's activities will also include a dance, with proceeds going to the Minden Hospital Fund.

Floor scuffers or Boot Scooters?

Dancers to be allowed in community center

Face to face discussion is better than a letter-writing campaign.

This was proven last week when Michelle Moore approached Anson, Hindon and Minden Council about getting a room at the Minden Community Centre for the Minden Boot Scooters to strut their stuff.

The group had been told the facility would not be available because of the scuff marks that are often associated with line dancing.

But other line dancers have been allowed to rent the facility.

Without consultation with Council, some members of the group wrote letters to the editor of the paper voicing their displeasure.

Moore said she didn't know how the floor scuffing issue came about, but she pointed out that there haven't been any problems with scuffing at Hart

Lodge where they currently do their dancing.

Council passed a resolution instructing the community centre manager to rent the facility to the Minden Boot Scooters at the regular rate, subject to availability at the time the group wants it.

Moore said the group usually meets on Wednesday evenings but that the schedule could be flexible.

"We're just out for a good time, to do some dancing and get some exercise," Moore told council.

The Boot Scooters have only four weeks left before the summer break. They expect to be moving their meetings to the Minden Community Centre this fall.

"We're not a bad group to get along with," said Minden Reeve Bern Berry. "We don't bite."

Darts and Laurels

With so many things going on this week, we've decided to touch briefly on several items rather than focus on one:

Laurels: to Lutterworth and Stanhope Township Councils for bringing in sound budgets without adding significantly to the tax burden. Both municipalities have demonstrated good planning by building reserve funds. As a result, they can now capitalize on the one-time infrastructure grants to undertake projects and bolster employment.

Laurels: to Lutterworth and Stanhope Township Councils (again) for taking steps to extend the lives of their landfill sites. Lutterworth has come up with an interesting way of raising funds while also reducing the amount of waste entering the landfills. Beginning this July, flea markets will be opening at the landfill sites. All that great stuff that others have thrown away will be put up for sale. Meanwhile, Stanhope has introduced a recycling program at its landfills.

Darts: to Snowdon Township Council -- a 12 per cent tax hike, cutbacks in landfill services, no reserve funds and no infrastructure projects -- you could stand to learn a lesson from your neighbours.

Laurels: to the Haliburton Rotary Club, which has provided 50 years of service and dedication to the community. Let's hope the next 50 are filled with as many fine accomplishments.

Laurels: to Chris Hodgson, our Member of Provincial Parliament, for standing up and voicing opposition to the nonsense coming out of Queen's Park. Hodgson has raised some solid arguments in debates regarding gun control and taxation of forest properties. It's encouraging to hear someone talking sense down there in Toronto.

Thanks for the kindness

Editor,

I appreciate the articles in the May 16 edition of The Times. The editorial, the cartoon by Gil Parcell and the story by Jerry Grozelle were enjoyed.

I thank everyone who took time out of their busy days to phone me, also the cards.

Last but not least, thank you to the Council of Anson, Hindon and Minden, who submitted my name to the Ministry of Citizenship to receive the Senior Achievement Award.

I hope I am still able to work for our community for a few more years.

Gun control advocate offers foolish argument

Editor,

Congratulations to Jerry Grozelle for his excellent article "Hodgson leads common-sense debate". Jerry points out how sensible Chris's stand on FAC's is, and what a fool we have in Anthony Ferruzzo. I doubt if Ferruzzo has ever been north of Markham.

Caring cleanses environment

Editor,

In reference to the acknowledgement of Mrs. Alexander's effort on Horsehoe Lake Road, she and her son certainly deserve the credit.

Marian Ingram and I did the same on Bat Lake Road a few years ago because we cared. It's too bad the people who dispose of their refuse in our lovely countryside also weren't more caring.

Minden Legion is set to tackle another new year

by Dave McAdam

The nominations and the election of Branch 636 officers and executive are now behind us for the new Legion Year of 1994-95. The officers starting June 1 will be President Bill Blyth, Past President Lois Adamson, First Vice President Lloyd Johnson, Second Vice President Don Holden, Secretary Nancy Adamson, Treasurer Cliff Green and Executive members are Cub Coneybeare, Francine Newton, Charlie MacDonald, Ruth Rice, Bud Murray and Syd Adamson. The Sgt. at Arms remains Ken Walsh. We wish them success and it is important to support them to the fullest. Their chairmanships will be assigned to each following June 1.

Some of you may have noticed a new flag flying on a pole in front of the Branch. This flag is the official one designated by the "Canada Remembers" Committee of Veterans Affairs as the emblem of the 50th Anniversary of D-Day and of World War II and VJ Days. In addition, Branch 636 has sponsored a War Veteran and his wife, Comrade Cliff Green and Muriel, to represent us at the ceremonies and festivities in Ottawa starting June 3 to June 6 (50 years since D Day). We hope they will enjoy their stay there.

The Council of Anson, Hindon and Minden as well as the County Executive have or will be acknowledging the 50th anniversary — Canada Remembers period of June 6, 1994 to November 11, 1995 and our churches have also been officially notified of the D Day anniversary and will be remembering in prayer or from their pulpits. Through that time interval Branch 636 will also be celebrating the "Canada Remembers" in other ways. Details are being formulated and from time to time members will be notified of future activities relating to the anniversary celebrations.

The Country and Western night on Saturday past was much fun and the music and food went down well. Thanks to Comrade Röss Codling who the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede Park. Some 3,500 to 4,000 Legion delegates are expected. Many issues, including that of the wearing of headress within Legion lounges will hopefully be resolved once and for all. A broadening of both "ordinary" and "associate" membership eligibility resolutions are in the works for debate also.

Jumping ahead, please note the Legion's Annual Yard Sale set down for Saturday, July 2, starting bright and early. Our Auxiliary is planning a bake sale and Monte Carlo event. Refreshments will be available for those developing a hunger and draw tickets will be available. In the meantime, how about some of you checking your garages, attics and basements for saleable items that are of no further use to you but which might be of use to others — books, tools, appliances (no clothes), knick knacks — for donations to the Branch. This Yard Sale helps to assure the presence of The Legion in your community.

The Branch wishes to express our sincere sympathy to Comrade Ethel Baker on the loss of her husband, Comrade Wes Baker. He will be remembered.

To the veterans of #4 Wireless School, Wireless Air Gunners (WAG) of the Royal Canadian Air Force, we sincerely hope your annual reunion at PineStones Inn on May 27 to 29 was a large success and we do hope you will return again to this corner of Canada.

Lastly, we wish to say how much we have enjoyed our period as P.R. Chairman of 636. Thanks to our fellow executive and to The Times for your co-operation this past term. The P.R. chair and this column will be taken over by one of the new executive. May whoever it is have the same enjoyment we have experienced in performing these duties.

Service Clubs

has served 636 well this past term as Ways and Means Chairman. His efforts have been superb.

Speaking of western, five of our members, Comrades Syd and Lois Adamson, Maurice Winterflood, Sally Bonner and Gwen Cox will be westward bound on June 28 to Calgary where the Dominion Convention will take place at

Dog abandoned at local clinic

Around noon on May 23, a dog was abandoned by its owners at the Minden Animal Clinic. The dog was seen released by people in a mid-sized car, which then proceeded to leave the scene at high speeds.

The dog is a large male, tri-coloured, but mostly white, Walker type hound, and is about five years old. It has a prominent 4.5 inch, pendulous growth on the right lower chest wall.

Hopefully the person or persons responsible will reclaim their dog at the Clinic. Failing that, anyone with any information regarding the dog or its owner is asked to contact either the Minden Animal Clinic at 286-2919, or Minden OPP at 286-1431.

Some gambles are worth the risk

You get a lot of come-ons in the newspaper column business. Hustlers trying to get free advertising for their brand new rap or country or rock recording, for their dude ranch, or the revolutionary new laundry detergent.

Super salesmen trying to merchandise their inside track to the Right Hand of Jehovah.

A lot of hucksters. A lot of scam artists.

And then, every once in a while you get a letter like the one that came in last week with a Montreal postmark.

"Dear Mr. Black,

Is there any way you can help me to have the operation? It is my only chance. I have raised two thirds of the funds. The operation is scheduled for June. Can you help?

Sincerely,
(for) Ken Hertz"

Another swindle, right? Some fly-by-night conman eager to milk the udder of human kindness?

Maybe not.

The stark, simple letter comes with newspaper clippings that flesh out the sad story of Ken Hertz. He is a poet. A friend of literary giants like Irving Layton. He is 47 years old.

And he is dying. Of Parkinson's Disease.

A particularly ugly death, this one. Like a long, slow and unusually vicious siege of a medieval town. Ken Hertz, who used to laugh and love and write poetry and publish the poems of others, has been besieged, laid waste. He has been beaten back, hammered, driven into the final upper turret of his anatomical castle.

If you're wrong, you're out the price of a case of beer. If you're right, you may have helped save a life.

Black'n White

by Arthur Black

He is, aside from his brain, utterly paralyzed. "I am almost completely immobile," he says, through a spokeswoman, "and almost completely unable to speak."

His friend and guardian, Kristina Higgins, has been reduced to writing letters to anyone she can think of — even obscure, out-of-province newspaper columnists — to see if they can help save Ken Hertz.

His health situation is catastrophic, but not hopeless. There is a surgical operation that is performed by doctors at the University of Colorado in Denver which, Hertz says, could save his life.

It's called the fetal-cell implant process. It involves transplanting cells into the brain of a patient suffering from Parkinson's.

The Colorado doctors have examined Hertz and say he's a promising candidate for the procedure.

There are, however, two hitches.

It costs $50,000. And it's not covered under Canadian hospitalization insurance.

Is there any way you can help me to have the operation? It is my only chance. I have raised two thirds of the funds. The operation is scheduled for June. Can you help?

A scam? Could be, I suppose. But I don't think so.

Anyway, a hundred thousand Canadians suffer from Parkinson's Disease, day in, day out. And I never lifted a finger for any of them.

I sent my cheque for twenty bucks to the Ken Hertz fund.

You feeling lucky? If you want to help, here's the address: Ken Hertz Operation Fund, 7421 Ostell Crescent, Montreal, H4P 1Y7.

If you're wrong, you're out the price of a case of beer.

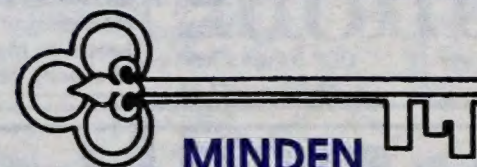

If you're right, you may have helped save a life.

You'll never get those odds with Lotto 649.

On the Street

by Times Staff

Those who are serious about business, quickly realize that the surest way to make sales is to attract customers into your store. Those who pursue their clients with aggressive promotional efforts usually come out on top. Naturally, we firmly believe that making good use of advertising is an excellent way to spread the word about your business and its products and services, but it is not the only way to bring customers through your door. And so, a tip of our Stetson to Dale and France at Nashville North Trading Company in Minden. Since arriving in our community they have demonstrated an energetic drive in their pursuit of business. From their distinctive signs and logo, to the tasteful layout of their store, they have been aggressive merchants in a highly competitive market.

That energy certainly was evident on the season's first holiday weekend when they were offered free horse drawn wagon rides through the community and provided entertainment featuring local musicians on a stage in front of their store.

The couple is also aware of the value of cooperative efforts. Both are active participants in the Minden BIA (Dale recently agreed to serve as chairman) and the newly formed Minden Area Business Association where he and France share the secretary/treasurer work. They have also made their mark in the community by promoting a number of fund raising events and providing support for others.

DAVE'S ON 121

Dave Honderich has opened his second hamburger take-out in the Highlands. Since the new outlet ison Haliburton's Highland Street, across from Cordell Interiors, he has cleverly adapted the name of this newest burger and fries take-out to Dave's on 121. This matches, in style at least, the name of his first outlet in Minden, Dave's on 35. The numbers, of course, refer to the provincial highways on which each business is located.

CARNARVON JUG CITY

We note some construction work underway at the Carnarvon Jug City store at the intersection of Highway 118 and 35. The work will result in the joining of the two buildings. One was previously used for storage and summer sales, to provide for a larger retail area. John says he also plans to increase his selection of videos when the renovations are completed.

RUDY'S RESTAURANT

Nothing like a birthday party to attract a crowd. Rudy and Margaret Smit were the centre of attention recently as they celebrated the first anniversary of the opening of their restaurant in Carnarvon. Congratulations!

NEW TERRITORY

We note a number of Haliburton County based businesses have expanded their efforts and are making an impact in other communities. John and Joan Stethem recently marked the opening of their Goodyear Service Centre and Apple Auto Glass outlet in Bancroft.....we also understand that Bwana John's plans to open a second outlet in Fenelon Falls. Best of luck to these aggressive entrepreneurs.

Opening

Imelda Maguire-Briggs and Les Hogg did the honours with the scissors recently as the Melbryan House, Picture Framing and Fine Art, marked its official opening. Les is a former owner of the residence which has been imaginatively redecorated to accommodate the new business. Melbryan House, operated by Imelda and her partner Bryan deLang, is located on South Lake Road at the Bat Lake Road turn.

Peewee A Royals down Fenelon 11-4

Good cut: Adam Durkin of the Ridgewood Ford peewee A baseball team takes a swing at the Fenelon Falls pitcher's offering. Durkin hit a single and was one of five Minden players to score two runs each as the Royals downed the visiting Fenelon team by an 11-4 count.

by Jerry Grozelle

Stealing really paid dividends for the Minden Ridgewood Ford Peewee A Royals hardball team.

The Royals stole 17 bases in their opening game of the season May 22 on the way to an 11-4 victory over Fenelon Falls.

"The boys played a very aggressive game," said Royals coach John Mattsson. "They outthusted Fenelon."

The home opener was as much a test to see who played best at different positions as it was a competition against the Fenelon boys. Six players had a turn on the mound, with Danny Jordan showing some promise. He pitched the seventh inning, striking out the side.

Five Ridgewood players scored two runs each. Cameron Neville made his round trips on one single and two walks. Adam Durkin had a single and three walks and Nick Kulas hit a single and scored a run on a homer in the fifth inning. Josh Belcher, Gaten Davies and Mark Mattsson added two runs apiece to the winning tally.

Minden capitalized more on the opposition's pitching mistakes than its hitting power. The Royals had only the four hits from Kulas, Durkin and Neville.

Fenelon took a brief 1-0 lead in the visitors' half of the first frame. But Minden rebounded with two runs in the home half of the first and never looked back. Ridgewood added two in the third, five in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Fenelon scored twice in the third for a short-lived tie and added one in the fourth.

The Royals showed some defensive prowess as well, turning two double plays — one in the second and the other in the sixth.

Fenelon's four runs were scored on six hits.

The peewee A squad had another game rained out last Thursday. Weather permitting, they played yesterday (Sunday) at home. The Royals are slated to play West Guilford May 31 and the next home game will be this coming Sunday, June 5 at noon.

Legion support: David Loughheed Junior helped his dad Dave Senior present a plaque to Kinmount Legion President Joe Kelly. The Legion has provided funds to help offset the Kinmount Karate Club's operating expenses. Club members showed their appreciation by doing a demonstration of their skills and presenting the Legion with the plaque.

Garbutt makes history for Minden Skating Club

First gold freeskate credit in 44 years

by Jerry Grozelle

Janene Garbutt has done something nobody else has done in the Minden Skating Club's 44-year history. Garbutt has earned the gold freeskate credit, the highest freeskate test of the Canadian Figure Skating Association testing system. She completed the test at Haliburton on April 30, in front of judge Sharon Hollows.

The 15-year-old Minden skater finished the test last month after completing the first half in March.

Now that she has the gold freeskate to her credit, Garbutt says she would like to "do well in the sectionals or to make it to the Canadians."

Garbutt started skating when she was three years old and for the past eight years her coach has been Jane Symons.

"Janene is a novice competitive skater, which means a different series of tests allowing her to compete at the trials to Canadians," Symons said.

This summer Garbutt, along with another Minden skater Louise Howell, will be going to Ottawa to train at the Minto school. The Ottawa school is run by former World Champion Don Jackson. Garbutt's coach in Ottawa will be Marilyn Symko, who has a record of turning out world class skaters.

"I hear she's a really good coach,"

Garbutt said.

For the past five summers Garbutt has continued her skating in Lindsay with Kathy Evans as her coach. She is looking forward to the summer in Ottawa.

The two local girls will be training in Ottawa for almost seven weeks, from July 4 to August 17.

Garbutt says she is thinking about teaching and she may go to Seneca College to get a coaching certificate.

Even with her successes to date, Garbutt hasn't lost sight of what skating is all about — having fun.

"I like to just skate for myself," she says.

Janene isn't the only skater in Jim and Nancy's family. But she is the only one of the four children who is still skating competitively.

Symons offered her congratulations to Garbutt for her dedication and perseverance to earning the gold freeskate credit.

"She is an inspiration to our young skaters," Symons said.

A former member of the Minden Skating Club has also earned the gold freeskate. Lisa Carr, who now skates with the Millbrook club, completed in the first half of the test two years ago as well. She managed to complete the second half of the test and coach figure skaters for the past two years.

HHSS track & field athletes continue march to OFSAA

Athletes from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School continued to demonstrate their skills, proving their mettle at the COSSA Track and Field competition.

Some will continue the march to OFSAA. Following are the HHSS students who finished in the top six at COSSA:

Mike Bradley dominated the midget boys' 100 and 200 metre events at COSSA. Bradley ran the 100 metres in 12 seconds flat and finished the 200 metres in 24.3 seconds, placing first in both events.

Chris Greenfield finished first in the senior boys 200 metre event in a time of 23.3. He also led the pack in the 400 metres with the first place time of 51 seconds flat.

Scott Whittaker tied for third with two other runners in the junior boys 100 metres. His time of 11.9 was .3 out of first.

Betty Verhovany's time of 28.6 placed her fourth in the 200 metre event for senior girls.

Two Haliburton students placed in the top six in the midget girls 400 metres. Amanda Duncombe was fifth in 1:09.3 and Rachel Brown was sixth with a time of 1:09.4.

Betty Verhovany placed sixth in the senior girls 400 metres in 1:06.8.

Nick Fawcett was sixth in the midget boys 3000 metres. His time was 10:56.0.

Mike Reid placed second in the midget boys sprint hurdles with a time of 15.9 seconds.

In the junior girls sprint hurdles, Anna Tomlinson was third with a time of 13.2.

Two junior boys were in the top six of the sprint hurdles. Travis Willison was fifth in 15.9 and Mark Morissette was sixth in 16.0.

Peter Brohman was third in the junior boys 300 metre hurdles with a time of 43.8.

The Haliburton junior boys A team was first in the 4X100 relay with a time of 45.9.

The senior boys team placed first in the 4X100 relay in 44.9.

The open girls 4X400 steeplechase (2000 metres) saw Haliburton's team place second with a time of 4:31.5.

Jamie Keefer was fourth in the senior boys shot put with a toss of 13.48 metres.

Jess Wallace placed fourth in the midget girls discus with a throw of 21.04 metres.

In the junior girls discus, Bobbi Griffin placed second with a toss of 26.74.

Aaron Tomlinson's throw of 39.40 earned him first place in the junior boys discus competition.

Jenn Bradford placed sixth in the senior girls javelin with a distance of 24.30 metres.

Endres Weber's throw of 49 metres even earned him second place in the senior boys javelin.

Amanda Duncombe was fourth in the midget girls long jump at 4.22 metres.

Mike Reid's long jump of 5.21 placed him third in the midget boys division.

Anna Tomlinson was at the top of the junior girls long jump competition at 4.66 metres.

Betty Verhovany was second in the senior girls long jump, spanning a distance of 4.40 metres.

A long jump of 5.75 placed Nico Haedicke fourth in the senior boys event.

Anna Tomlinson took second in the junior girls triple jump with 10.48.

Scott Whittaker paced the junior boys triple jump with a first-place jump of 12.31.

Jenn Bradford was fourth in the senior girls triple jump with 8.89.

Three Haliburton competitors were in the top five of the midget boys pole vault. Mike Bradley tied for first with 2.65 metres; Joey Noel was next with a vault of 2.50 and James Jennings was fifth with a 2.20.

In the junior boys pole vault, Travis Willison was first (3.25 metres) and Kevin Morissette was fifth (2.50).

Haliburton dominated the senior boys pole vault. Craig Mann and Endres Weber tied for first (3.58) and Jonathon Bishop was second with 3.10.

Ole! Residents at Highland Crest enjoyed a Mexican fiesta last Friday. The spanish-style party began with a hearty lunch buffet and ended with a the smashing of a pinata which they made themselves. Above Winnifred Barnum, 83, was into the festive spirit as she donned a huge sombrero and wore a striped poncho to go with it. Below, Corinne Bonneville, 82, sits back and enjoys her lunch and a cold margarita.

Auditors paint rosy picture

The outlook was rosy as Gary Thurston went over the Anson, Hindon and Minden financial statement page by page with council at last week's meeting.

The verdict is that the municipality is in excellent shape financially.

Reserves are up, debentures are down and the percentage of tax arrears has dropped by more than two per cent over the last two years. The percentage of arrears is 16.8 of the current year's levy, as compared to 19.1 per cent in 1991.

"It's been very tough for the last four or five years," Thurston said. "It will take a few more years for some businesses to recover from the recession."

Minden Reeve Bern Berry credited the municipality's senior staff members for their efforts at keeping within budgets and successfully applying for government grants.

"The senior staff has made us look good and it's certainly appreciated," Berry said.

"Over all, the municipality came in at five per cent under budget," Thurston noted.

Berry asked the perennial question: "Is there anything we can do to better our operation?"

Thurston said that the municipality should continue its policy of maintaining extensive reserve funds, to try to save in advance for major capital purchases and he urged council to avoid debenturing.

"As a taxpayer, I would urge you to remain conscious of the burden the local ratepayers have to bear," Thurston said. "The private sector does have a very low tolerance for tax increases."

He observed that the present council's record speaks for itself in that respect.

Thurston concluded by saying: "It's always a pleasure to report a surplus."

Lutterworth Township received similar reviews from its auditors last Thursday. Like Minden, this council managed a zero tax increase this year and has enough reserve funds to cash in on the infrastructure grants that are being made available to municipalities.

Lutterworth Deputy Reeve Jim McMahon also credits his staff for the glowing review. He says township staff take pride in managing public funds to the best of their abilities.

Countrywide marks opening of new building

Friday was a red letter day for the staff of the Minden office of Countrywide Real Estate.

The county's newest name in real estate celebrated with the official opening of its offices on Main Street just across from the Hospital.

Actually the name Country wide has been seen widely throughout the area since last fall when John Mulder and Doug Johnson purchased the Case Real Estate office in Minden. Following the transfer, the partners joined the Countrywide family, a group of real estate offices stretching across the country and into the United States.

The new office and name attracted a large number of agents and when the ribbon was snipped on Friday, 15 sales associates were under the Countrywide banner. The office also employs three support staff.

"We are very pleased to be a part of the Countrywide family," John Mulder said following the ribbon cutting formalities. Partner Doug Johnson concurred, pointing out that the office's quality sales team and nation-wide connections can only bode well for the future of the agency.

The optimistic outlook was reiterated by the president of Countrywide Realty, Tom Morrissey. On hand for the opening he told the gathering that in many markets across the country, Countrywide is the dominant agency. Since the Haliburton County office opened, it has been a leader in this area as well. Morrissey was accompanied at the ribbon cutting by the organization's vice president, Leslie Blackburn.

The day included a tour of the smart looking building complete with a clock tower, an opportunity to chat with the owners and sales staff, the ribbon cutting ceremony and refreshments.

ABOVE

LEFT

Hodgson hammers away at rebate issue

by Jerry Grozelle

Chris Hodgson, Natural Resources critic for the Progressive Conservatives, presented a strong argument for the reinstatement of the Managed Forest Tax Rebate Program last week in the Legislative Assembly.

Hodgson suggested that the government is inconsistent in its approach to sustainable forestry. Natural Resources Minister Howard Hampton issued a press release recently in which he is quoted as saying: "I believe our sustainable forestry agenda is crucial to the future economic health of communities that depend on forest industries."

Commenting on that statement, Hodgson said: "It's a very important issue to the people of Ontario and particularly to the people of Victoria-Haliburton. I find rather inconsistent with this release what you've done in the last year with regard to private forest lands. Little more than a year ago you discontinued the managed forest tax rebate program, which encouraged sustainable development of private forest lands.

"As you know, approximately 40 per cent of the timber coming out of central Ontario is from private lands. How can you reconcile these conflicting policies of your ministry with your stated objective to show the world that all forest products coming out of Ontario come from sustainable forests?"

Hampton replied that 80 per cent of Ontario is crown land and that his ministry is working in co-operation with forest industries in Ontario to put in place a sustainable forest agenda with respect to crown lands.

With respect to private forest lands, Hampton said: "We have known for some time that Ontario's private forested lands require some attention. We know that some of that attention must be dealt with by means of regulation, some by means of public information and education and some by means of tax incentives. We are working with a number of interest groups to do that."

Hampton added that he didn't feel that his government should "throw money at the problem."

Hodgson questioned the New Democrats' priorities. "This government is more interested in looking at $10-million for sustainable forestry in Costa Rica instead of sustainable forests in Ontario," Hodgson said, suggesting that the government should be setting its priorities here in Ontario.

Hodgson also questioned the wisdom of the Ministry of Culture, Tourism and Recreation pumping millions of dollars into developing snowmobile and hiking trails throughout Ontario (a project he agrees with) and then jeopardizing it by cancelling the managed forest tax rebate program.

Much of that trail network is on private land that was subject to the tax rebate.

A group of forest land owners in Haliburton County has issued an ultimatum, stating that the gates will be closed to public use if the tax rebate program isn't reinstated or the assessment of forest property changed from residential to agricultural to reflect a more accurate interpretation of the land use.

Hodgson said the government of the 1970s made a mistake by recognizing forest lands as residential instead of agricultural.

The tax rebate program was instituted to encourage sustainability. He added that the savings to be had by discontinuing the rebate "are miniscule when you take into account the economic impact of sustainable forests and also the tourism initiative."

"There are hundreds of people who work in small business and tourism across our riding and across the province," Hodgson said.

He urged Hampton to reinstate the managed forest tax rebate program as an interim measure until forest lands can be given fair treatment under Ontario's tax structure.

"The Ministry of Natural Resources has a limited capacity to control what people do on their private land," Hampton said.

"We will work with any bodies and organizations that want to work on this issue with respect to all aspects of the issue: the public information aspect of it, the issue of generating some management plans, the issue of better regulation, and finally, in terms of tax rebates."

Hampton insisted that reinstatement of the tax rebate program may help generate some funds for some land owners.

"But it will not generate sustainable forests on private lands," Hampton said. "There's got to be a far greater area of co-operation. When we see the willingness to work towards that co-operation, then I think we will begin to make progress in the area of private lands."

Water levels are rising

The first newsletter of the season can only report that the winter precipitation was less than average across most of the Trent-Severn watersheds. It has been most evident in the refilling of those Haliburton lakes that are furthest north, some of which at this writing (May 12) are two to four feet lower than their usual full levels.

On Monday, May 9, the lakes in Haliburton averaged 86.2 per cent of their usual full levels, which was the lowest since about 1987.

The canal locks opened for business on Friday May 20 for the navigations season.

Reservoir Lakes averaged 93 per cent of summer full level on Thursday, May 19, which was just less than the normal of 97 per cent for this time of year. Several lakes at the top of the Gull watershed have yet to fill (perhaps as much as 2.5 feet low) but they continue to rise and may top out not much lower than normal if the weather is not unusually hot and dry.

The surplus condition on the Kawarthas should result in no need of reserved water for a couple of weeks. Trent-Severn would normally first need such water for the canal system lakes by about the second week of June. Water would first be taken from reservoir lakes at the higher percentages.

Summer bingo's a blast

by Gord Graham

Members of the Rotary Club of Minden were delighted to welcome a record 385 people to the first Sunday Bingo of the year. Additional tables had to be set up in the Community Centre as players continued to pour through the doors right up until start time.

"The Summer Sunday Bingos are always very popular," commented president Bill Roszell. Attendance at the first one of the season is usually a little lighter.

"We expected cottagers to be opening up for the season and enjoying the first of the warm weather. And this year, with a key hockey playoff game on TV, we wondered if numbers would hold up. However, the community came through again for the best May bingo ever."

The Rotary Club would like to say a resounding thank you for the outstanding support from the community, and to remind everyone that proceeds are reinvested in local projects.

Rotary extends a warm welcome to come and enjoy an evening of fun and prizes.

Regular bingos are being held on Tuesday evenings in the Community Centre. Summer Bingos are held on Sunday evenings of each long weekend in the Minden arena.

Brass fittings in pumps may contaminate drinking water

There has recently been concern expressed about lead leaching into water from submersible well pumps with brass or bronze fittings, the district health unit has advised.

The problem was first discovered in California. The U.S. Environmental Agency has since issued a list of pumps which might pose a risk to human health.

Health Canada has been reviewing the situation to determine if it is a problem in Canada. Almost 90 per cent of water well pumps have stainless steel or plastic parts. This means that less than 15 per cent may present a problem.

In some cases, the problem can be solved by flushing water before it is used for drinking.

Leaching from brass parts resolves as the pump ages.

Anyone who gets drinking water from a well with a submersible pump with brass or bronze parts may be affected. People who get their drinking water from public systems are not affected.

Concerned citizens who own a private well and would like more information should contact the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit.

Colourful decorations created with willow crafts

Saturday was a beautiful day. There were no activities in the morning. In the afternoon, Kathleen Owens came and played piano and accordian music and sang hymns. We thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon. We thank her very much for coming to entertain us.

In the evening, Sunday chapel service was taken by Rev. John Burgess. The organ was played by June Mason and the service was very enlightening. We thank both John and June greatly.

On May 16, our Poets

Corner was held in the craft room. Residents attending composed two poems.

That afternoon, I went for a drive with my sister May, Roy and Jackie. It was a rainy day but we enjoyed it anyway.

Tuesday morning we held chapel service. It was taken by Peter Walford-Davis. Louise Leonard played the organ. We thank both Rev. Davis and Louise for holding the service for us.

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Later Dottie Muirhead and Donna Wallace were here for crafts. We decorated rings made from pussy willow branches with flowers we had dried. Some of us sorted cards into stacks of Valentines, Easter, Mother's Day and so on. Later the pictures on these cards will be cut out and used for different occasions.

In the evening Everett Fairey and his daughter were here to entertain us with guitar music and songs. It was nice to have Terri back to sing again. Thank you Everett and Terri.

Thursday was tea party day. The group who had the tea party was unable to come so the auxiliary ladies and Linda Fry supplied and served the tea. It was a lovely change to have so many kinds of fresh fruit served, along with squares. The ladies were Jean Robson, Nancy Cook, Teresa Clement, Pat Scott and Linda. We thank them immensely for helping out.

We had bingo Thursday evening with Kathy Woods calling. Thanks Kathy.

Friday was happy hour in the auditorium. The entertainment was Billie Pickard playing the accordian and bongo drums. Finger food was served and everyone enjoyed themselves. The volunteers were Don and Ellen Holden, Dottie Muirhead, and Mary Guilleman. Thanks to everyone.

Ear piercing on grandson a worry

The following questions have been submitted by families in Haliburton County and are answered by professional staff at Kinark Child and Family Services. If you have questions about your family, your children, your parents, yourself, write to us c/o The Minden Times, "Family Matters".

Q: My son is two and a half years old. He has always enjoyed daycare, but recently he has cried and clung to me when I leave, and has been having nightmares. He hasn't had any bad things happen at day care, as far as we have found out, and in fact is now in the "big kids" group, which he should enjoy. What's going on here?

A: It sounds as though it is the transition to the big kids group that is causing so much distress. Young children need to form strong attachments to their caregiver in order to feel safe in exploring and learning, and taking risks. This is wonderful in a family atmosphere, but does present some challenges in group day care, where children go through as many as three or four transitions — each time experiencing separation and loss — between infancy and school age.

Some suggestions for smoothing the process are: Since your child has already moved to the new group, spend some time with him in the new group. Hold a transition meeting with all who know your child, to share strategies for supporting him through the change. One common tool is providing the child with transitional objects — a familiar blanket or toy — to make the change easier. Remember too each child is different — some will need more preparation and support for changes, some will need less.

makes sense to you.

Q: My husband and I disagree often about how to deal with conflicts with the children. He thinks I am too soft and I think he's too hard. Is this a problem?

A: Children can certainly learn that parents are different and respond differently to each other. They are probably more comfortable if parents can work out agreement on basic principles, and preferably in private before the need arises. Children can become anxious if they sense that their parents are divided about them, especially is this happens often.

In other words, a little bit of difference between parents is okay, but major differences most of the time should be worked out between the parents away from the child. Except for extremes, it doesn't matter that much if, as a family, you are somewhat strict or somewhat easy going with your children. What does matter is how much fighting goes on between you and your husband. Fights about the children are often a "red flag" that there are other issues between a husband and wife.

The opinions and information provided in this column are not intended to be complete answers to the questions raised, and therefore the ideas suggested here may not be fully applicable to your family's circumstances. For assistance with specific problems, readers are welcome to call Kinark Child and Family Services, 457-2555.

Q: My son and his wife have allowed our 9 year old grandson to get his ear pierced! We think this is wrong.

A: Each generation has its styles and fashions. These make a statement of the uniqueness of the young person. It gets attention from both adults and other kids. Once the novelty has worn off, your grandson will probably move on to something else that is fashionable in his group. Although it may be hard at times, try to remember to think about how he acts, not what he looks like.

Q: I'm fifteen. My parents say that I shouldn't be seeing my nineteen year old boyfriend because he's too old. What do you think?

A: You parents have legal responsibility for you until you are 16 years of age. Your parents are likely concerned about some of the legal age differences, such as alcohol use. If this is a new relationship, it might be helpful to get your parents to meet him and get to know him. Hopefully they can voice their concerns in a way that

OPP vets gather in Peterborough

The No. 8 Chapter of the Ontario Provincial Police Veterans Association held their 1994 General Meeting in Peterborough on the May 26 and 27.

Three hundred people from across the province were expected to attend the two-day event. This event was the celebration of the 25th Anniversary of the Veterans Association. Membership is open to retired and serving OPP officers as well as persons who at one time served the OPP.

The Commissioner of the Ontario Provincial Police Thomas

O'Grady was in attendance to acknowledge the founding members of the Veterans Association.

A well-known local resident and long-time friend of the Ontario Provincial Police, Mr. Stan McBride also addressed the gathering at this meeting.

TVOntario

From Tots to Teens

by Susan Wilson

Children form the largest segment of TVOntario's audience. That's because many of the daytime programming hours are devoted to them — and because that programming is first rate.

It starts with a daily early-morning feed to schools, which provides programs related to the curriculum in both elementary and secondary schools. These programs give teachers an extra set of tools to use in presenting material to their students. Only the high school and three of Haliburton County's seven elementary schools have the opportunity for cable access to the TVO signal. The others have to play "catch as catch can" with the rest of us.

The pre-school set are next on the agenda. TVO has developed award-winning children's programming and set aside the morning hours in a four-hour programming block called "Get Ready to Learn." The long-running Polka Dot Door leads the way at eight o'clock each morning with its mega-star, Polkaroo, who is wildly popular among the small set. (Pssst! Want to know a secret? We hope Polkaroo will be visiting us here in Haliburton this summer!)

After school, TVO Kids occupies the period from 4:00 to 7:00 p.m. It's designed for youngsters 4 to 11 years old and offers them a whole new look, sound, and feel to their television viewing, and two new hosts, Patty Sullivan and Kevin Brauch, who are on air "live," not on tape.

As Patty and Kevin introduce the programs in the three-hour segment, they also involve their audience in contests that challenge their creative ability, introduce them to interesting and/or famous people, and generally dazzle them with their on-air antics. Since TVO Kids was launched at the beginning of April, over 15,000 youngsters across Ontario have inundated the network with phone calls, faxes, and letters in response to Patty and Kevin's invitations.

TVOntario acknowledges that they're not serving teenagers as well as they should. That's why Adrian Mills has recently been appointed Creative Head of Children's and Youth Programming. If you'd like to offer him your thoughts about what you'd like to see, you can call him toll-free at (800)463-6886 ext. 2007.

Of course, people below the age of majority are free to watch TVO the rest of the time too. After all, they're certainly aren't going to find much on the commercial networks that stimulates their thinking and helps prepare them for the real world. They need programming that reaches beyond their funnybones. On TVOntario, they get it. That's just one more reason — and one of the most important ones — why we must have access to the TVO signal.

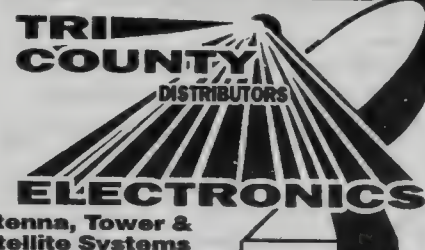

Program Highlights:

TVOntario's programming for youth extends far beyond the curricular bounds of the classroom. On May 30th at 10:00 p.m., TVO will acknowledge World No-Tobacco Day with a live half-hour special for and with teenagers. Ifs, Ads, or Butts will take a critical look at the impact of cigarette advertising and anti-smoking campaigns on teenagers. Janet Thomson, the show's Gemini-winning producer and director, says it is not intended to lecture the kids about smoking. "We want to provide them with an opportunity to talk about smoking so they will have the information to make up their own minds."

Ifs, Ads, or Butts will also feature student opinion pieces in the form of rants and streeters, original music, claymation, and dramatic and cartoon sketches. Audience members will be able to phone in while the show is on by using a toll-free number that will be given out during the program.

So get your homework done early, tune in, and take part.

Susan Wilson represents Haliburton County on TVOntario's Southcentral Regional Council. If you would like to help get access to the TVO signal or have any other comments, call her at 286-6009. This column appears every four weeks. It reports on the progress of the TVO Action Team and highlights upcoming TVO programs.

OHIP limits out-of-province health care coverage

As of July 1, 1994, if you are injured or become ill while travelling outside Canada, OHIP will pay only as much as that service would cost in Ontario.

Emergency in-patient hospital services eligible for OHIP coverage will be paid up to a maximum of $100 (Canadian) per day or the amount billed — whichever is less.

Emergency outpatient services, with the exception of dialysis, will be paid to a maximum of $50 (Canadian) for all out-patient services provided on any one day.

Out-of-country dialysis treatment will be paid at the present inter-provincial rate of $210 (Canadian). The inter-provincial rate is established between the provinces for services provided to people who are insured in one province but who are receiving services in another province.

OHIP will cover services only in hospitals or other health care facilities that are licensed by local governments.

OHIP will continue to cover necessary care for travellers within Canada.

If you require further information regarding OHIP coverage, call 1-743-2140 (collect).

Applications for Ontario Health coverage and change of address/information forms are available at your nearest Information Centre in Haliburton or Minden.

Elite wildlife artists show works at Algonquin Park

In the fall of 1995 (August 19 to October 29, 1995), Muskoka Tourism, Algonquin Park, and the Friends of Algonquin Park will host the first Canadian exhibition of the Society of Animal Artists at the Old Museum in Algonquin Park.

This project is co-ordinated by Muskoka Animal Artists Exhibition '95.

The Society of Animal Artists (SAA) is the oldest and most prestigious association of animal and wildlife painters and sculptors in the world.

Founded in 1960, the society is devoted to promoting excellence in the portrayal of the creatures sharing our planet.

Some of the finest animal artists from the United States, Canada, Europe, Africa, and Australia are represented in the society's membership.

Over the years, the SAA has featured the best work of such renowned members as Robert Bateman, Carl Brenders, Guy Cheleach, Simon Combs, Peter Corbin, Lars Jonsson, Robert Kuhn, George McLean, Dino Paravano, Richard Sloan, Kent Ulberg, and others too numerous to mention. The work created by these artists has established new standards of artistic excellence and respect, helping animal and wildlife art to achieve a place of honour as a fine art form.

The exhibition of approximately 115 of the finest sculptures and paintings of animal art to be seen anywhere in the world will be located at the refurbished "Old Algonquin Museum" and be accessible to viewers from August 19 to October 29, 1995.

The art will be juried by a prestigious panel of judges on Friday, August 18, 1995 and the awards will be presented at a gala event on Saturday Evening, August 19, 1995.

Building For The Future

Austin Real Estate Agent, Bill Kulas, left, presents Minden Rotary Club treasurer Brian Adamson with a cheque for $1200.00. The donation will be deposited in the community's hospital building fund account managed by the service club.

Earlier this year, Bill Kulas pledged to donate a portion of each real estate commission to the fund. "It's my way of ensuring Minden and area continues to be a great place to live," he commented in presenting the cheque. Bill Kulas has renewed his commitment to the community and extended his pledge for the summer season. Immunization program begins this fall

Next fall, 135,000 Grade 7 students will be offered vaccination against hepatitis B, Health Minister Ruth Grier has announced.

The school-based program, aimed at protecting young people before they become sexually active, will cost about $6 million a year.

More than 300 cases of hepatitis B are reported each year in Ontario, most of them among young adults.

There's no cure for hepatitis B, but there is a vaccine to prevent it. It's vital that young people are protected well before they reach the age when high-risk behaviours begin.

A virus that attacks the liver, hepatitis B can cause permanent liver damage, scarring, and in some cases, death. It is the world's number one cause of liver cancer.

- Many cases are unreported because people can have hepatitis B and not know it.

- The virus is primarily spread by sexual contact or by contact with the blood of an infected person. About half the people who catch hepatitis B never feel sick. They can spread the disease without knowing it.

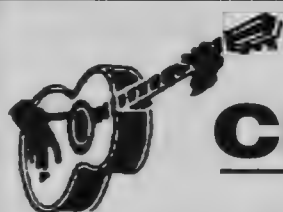

- Most new cases are the result of sexual contact with an infected person. The disease is also spread through dirty needles, body and ear piercing, and tattooing.

- An infected mother may pass the disease to her newborn during birth. Babies of carrier mothers receive a vaccine at birth to protect them from infection.

- Public health nurses will offer students three injections over a six-month period — the first in October or November, another a month later, and the last five months after that.

- Hepatitis B vaccine is one of the safest vaccines used today. It usually has no major side effects.

- The vaccine can also be bought from local pharmacies with a prescription. Anyone wanting to be immunized should discuss it with his or her physician.

Too good to be true? Hydrogen fuelling the future

Modern society is characterized by consumption of vast amounts of energy, but this comes with environmental costs.

For example, the automobile engine contributes to ground-level air pollution and upper-atmosphere greenhouse gases.

Electricity is indispensable in modern life, yet contributes to global warming through coal burning stations, carries risks of nuclear accidents or causes massive ecological destruction by dams. For most people, though, giving up the family car or using far less electricity is not a realistic option.

Now it appears there can be an improved environmental future that still includes electricity and cars.

The secret factor is hydrogen. Hydrogen has long been touted as a potential fuel whose finicky volatility has been tamed. It now provides an exciting source of electricity without combustion.

The technology was invented in 1839 and was used in the 1960s as a one-time-only power source for the Gemini and Apollo space programs.

When hydrogen is pushed onto a special polymer membrane, the atomic nucleus passes through while leaving behind its electron. The electron is captured and put to work as electricity while the hydrogen nucleus emerges on the other side of the membrane to combine with oxygen and form water.

Thus, while electricity is generated, the only waste products are heat and pure water. It sounds almost too good to be true.

In 1983, Vancouver entrepreneur Geoffrey Ballard, began to develop the "proton exchange membrane" to exploit hydrogen's energy potential. Like the first clunky computers that presaged today's PCs, Ballard's early fuel cells were bulky and heavy but soon progressed — between 1988 and 1993, the power output per given density and volume increased 500 per cent and will probably double again this year.

In other words, more and more

This is one of those rare stories in Canada, a home-grown technology with enormous environmental benefits.

Reflections

by David Suzuki

power is being packed in the same space in the way greater numbers of transistors have been crammed onto a silicon wafer.

The implications are immense.

In 1992, a transit bus was outfitted with a 125 horsepower Ballard fuel cell and can carry 20 passengers for 160 kilometers on a tank of hydrogen. In 1995, a 60 passenger bus will have an increased range of 400 kilometers and by 1998, it's expected that a 75 passenger bus will have a 560 kilometer range. Since the end of '93, a Mercedes-Benz car powered by a Ballard fuel cell has been driven thousands of kilometers without a breakdown.

Development of the hydrogen fuel cell has been stimulated by legislation in the United States.

In 1990, the Clean Air Act reduced the volume of allowable emission of pollutants while regulating pollution sources such as vehicles. The same year, California legislated that by 1998, two per cent of the cars sold in the state by each manufacturer must have no exhaust pollutants. By 2003, 10 per cent must have zero emission.

Since California represents 10 per cent of all U.S. vehicle sales, this mandate has had a major impact on the auto industry. This year, on Feb. 1, the District of Columbia and 12 northeastern states which represent 30 per cent of the vehicle market, requested the same automobile standards as California.

In addition, the Energy Policy Act in 1992, set energy efficiency standards for industrial equipment. Taken together, this legislation has pressured industries to find better ways to meet the rigid standards.

The Ballard hydrogen fuel cell represents a massive decrease in total pollution per unit of energy and has zero pollution emission. It is portable, made of cheap, durable material and easily mass produced.

Hydrogen power is more reliable than solar energy and avoids heavy batteries and recharging time. There are few moving parts in the engine to break down.

Hydrogen itself is readily available from a variety of sources, including natural gas and electrolysis of water.

The bus powered by Ballard's cells demonstrates the immediate practicality of the technology while all indications are they will also work in trains and cars in the near future.

Ballard also has hydrogen fuel cells producing 30 kilowatts of electricity (enough for seven homes). The company plans to sell units starting at 250 kw and going up to a megawatt. Small, reliable power plants would be ideal for remote communities and would decrease our dependence on huge centralized electrical stations.

Hydrogen fuel cells could substitute for nuclear power units in submarines that already pose a pollution hazard in the world's oceans.

This is one of those rare stories in Canada, a home-grown technology with enormous environmental benefits. It has been well supported by government and leads the world in this field.

Now the challenge is to transform government and industry rhetoric about global competitiveness into reality. In the long run, we still have to change our dependence on energy and transportation, but hydrogen fuel technology can buy us time to make the transition.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

Mr and Mrs Eugene McElwain and baby from Brooklin enjoyed their weekend with Bev and Marlene McElwain.

Euchre game winners at Lochlin Centre on May 24 included Gordon Kellett for most lone hands, Gerald Hicks, Joyce Schellenberg, Betty Hicks and Neil Cartwright. This was the final evening for euchre at Lochlin and the games will resume in September.

All good wishes to Hilda Harrison who is presently in Mount Sinai hospital, Mrs. Doug Campbell, Merle Pringle, Shirley Colliss, Gordon Monk who are all on the sick list. Please let me know if you have anyone you'd like to add to the good wishes list.

Carol and Reg Leaman from Newmarket entertained a large crowd of family at their summer place at South Lake Trailer Park recently. They called in to see me and had a chat and a cup of tea on their way home Monday.

Items called in: Kinettes yard sale at the Municipal parking lot on Saturday, June 4 starting at 9 a.m. Any donations for the sale can be picked up by calling 286-3295 or 286-1171. Also on June 4 is the annual Beef Barbecue at the arena with dinner at 7 p.m. and homemade pie for dessert. There will be a dance following the BBQ, the band is Summer Wind and the event is sponsored by Minden Agricultural Society.

Club 35 euchre results on May 23 were, for most lone hands, Pat Scadden, Marg Fletcher and Garth Windsor with the highs, Jean Randell, Mary Schad and Anna Smithwick. The 50-50 draw went to Rhoda Woolner and special awards to Mary Schad, Olive Jones and Jean Scadden. Next Wheels to Meals dinner will be held June 7 at noon.

Trent McElwain of Pickering and Rick and Debbie McElwain of Lindsay were weekend guests with Dorothy McElwain.

Clark and Blanche Miller of Perkinsfield, Wayne and Dale Vick and Bud Dart were guests with Audrey and Bob Vick last weekend.

Chic and Marian Minaker visited relatives in Port Perry recently.

Winners at the weekly Stanhope bridge games on Tuesday, May 24, were Betty Schlotter, Thelda Weston and Vange Croucher. The games are open to everyone and begin and 1 o'clock, no partners needed.

David Hicks from Unionville was a weekend guest with his parents and other friends in Lochlin.

Irene Minaker of Toronto enjoyed the holiday weekend with May Hicks in Lochlin.

R.C.L. Minden Branch 636 euchre game winners for May 26 included, for most lone hands Helen Lee and Jim Bradbury, Verna McDonald and Bill Kleinschmidt with high scores and Jean Scadden, Pete Learn, B. Harper, Helen Lee, Margaret Fletcher and Ralph Schroter.

Mr and Mrs Jack Dart of Oshawa visited their cottage for the holiday weekend and visited friends in the area.

Those attending Victoria District Annual on May 25 at Fenelon Falls with hostess branch Bury's Green, included Mary Cox, Jean Lacey, and Beulah Hewitt.

Sincere sympathy to the family and friends of the late baby Alexandria Cooper, Kathleen Wylie, John Noble and Basil Bacon who passed away recently.

I have another granddaughter, child of Gary and Sandra Gauthier who arrived holiday Monday, May 23.

Marlene McElwain from London has been visiting Alice and Lloyd Sedgwick and Edna McElwain at The Terrace.

Mildred Hoyle and family from Bracebridge and Cobourg enjoyed the holiday weekend at their summer home.

Our area was certainly crowded as visitors piled into our village for the great weekend, lots of sun and lots of blackflies - hope no one got too burned as the sun shone for the whole three day weekend.

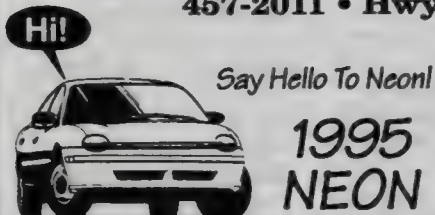

I spoke too soon - did you notice that snow storm last Thursday - just as I was finishing writing this column!

Cyclists will be out riding on June 5 to raise money for Cystic Fibrosis. If you can't be a rider, support a rider

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to thank my wonderful family for all their love and help when I had my knee surgery. Special thanks to our daughter Julie for taking a week off to help me. Thanks to sister Dorothy McElwain for the lovely meals she brought to us and sister Blanche and brother-in-law Clark Miller for food and their help. Thanks to relatives and friends for plants, fruit, candy, cards, visits and phone calls. I really appreciate everyone's thoughtfulness. Love you all.

Audrey Vick.

I would like to sincerely thank everyone who helped Muriel and me during my recent illness. Special thanks to the ambulance crew and neighbours who were right there to offer assistance, Dr. Chow and staff at Minden Hospital and all the calls and cards expressing concern and offering help.

Ossie Mark.

Hats off to our local council and fire department.

Bazil and I say many thanks to our local council for passing permission to burn dead grass, etc. across from our home. Thanks to Clayton Cameron for passing our concerns to council and the fire department for giving their time. Again, our heartfelt thanks

May Stevenson

AT REST

COOPER, Alexandria (Alex) Nicole Jane

Peacefully in Haliburton on Saturday, May 21, 1994 in her 5th month. Loving daughter of Toni. Dear granddaughter of Murray and Zelda Cooper. Dear niece of Karen and Russell and Tina. Special cousin to Andrew. Fondly remembered by her great grandparents, great aunts and uncles and cousins. Alex rested at the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, 127 Main Street, Minden on Sunday. Funeral service was held in the chapel on Monday, May 23, 1994 at 11 a.m. Interment St. Peter's Cemetery, Maple Lake. Memorial donations to the Hospital for Sick Children would be appreciated.

IN MEMORIAM

McKELVEY: In loving memory of my dear husband Irvin who passed away May 28, 1992.

Though your smile is gone forever, And your hand I cannot touch, Still I have so many memories Of the one I loved so much. Your memory is my keepsake With which I'll never part, God has you in His keeping, But I still have you in my heart. Lovingly remembered always by his wife Jean.

McKELVEY: In loving memory of our dear father, Irvin, who passed away May 28, 1992. What we'd give if we could say "Hello Dad" in the same old way

To hear your voice, see your smile To sit and chat with you awhile. So you who have a father Cherish him with care, For you'll never know the heart-ache Till you see his vacant chair. Sadly missed and never forgotten Betty and Alfred.

McKELVEY: In loving memory of our dear grandfather Poppa Irv who passed away May 28, 1992.

His smiling way and pleasant face Are a pleasure to recall, He had a kindly word for each And died beloved by all. Some day we hope to meet him, Some day, we know not when, To clasp his hand in the better land, Never to part again. Sadly and always remembered by Jeff, Carleen, Robbie, Lesley, Jarett, Wanda, Tracy, Janet and Derek.

RIPLEY: In loving memory of Eugene Ripley who passed away, June 1, 1989. Gone are the days we used to share, But in our minds, you are always near. Missed by his wife and family.

Drink and drive and you'll be seen in some new bars.

You can lose a lot more than your licence drinking and driving.
